

As I was getting ready Sunday morning to head to church for the online filming of our services, I was reminded by my phone/calendar that today was the day of our annual Palm Sunday Picnic. I was definitely disappointed because I wasn't getting to see my church family in person and also because it was a beautiful day! If you are like me, I'm reminded almost daily of what I had planned but am not able to follow through with because of COVID-19.

I could not help but think of several verses that remind us that as much as we plan ahead and prepare for the future (and I think we still should), we never truly know what is down the road. (Look up those verses that came to your mind or do a quick Google search about God and the future) Our plans, our church's plans, our family plans can all change quickly. Find something today to be thankful for and spend a little time expressing that thankfulness, especially in these unplanned times of our lives.
